Exchange copies.

Dear Sir,

May I ask your kind help in the following detail?

We have not yet received the fascicule of your valued publication noted below. As a subsequent number~~s~~ ha~~ve~~s reached us safely I venture to ask that we may be supplied with a second copy to make our set complete for binding purposes.

I trust that my request may not give you undue trouble.

I hope that you continue to receive your copy of our Journal regularly.

Believe me,

Yours faithfully,

Dear Sir:

Your form letter asking for Part I of the Coinage of Metapontum, because it mistakenly refers to this Part I as No. 47 of our monogrpahs, causes me to wonder whether the copy of Part I, which was sent you at the time of its publication, did not reach your hands. This is monograph No. 32 not No. 47. It was published in 1927 and I am certain that a copy was sent you for review at that time. If you find, on examination, that you did not receive Part I, I shall be very glad indeed to send you this, if you will communicate that circumstance.

Very truly yours,

SN:JG

Dear Sir,

I have to thank you for your letter of July 28. It was good of you to take so much trouble over our enquiry, which was unfortunately, as you gathered, in error. We have received No. 47 of your monographs, which is 'Metapontum' Part 2, but not No. 46, which was wrongly inferred to be 'Metapontum' Part 1. The actual Part 1 = monograph no. 32 we have, but we should be obliged if you could send us a copy of no. 46 & so enable us to complete our set.

I sincerely apologise for the confusion in our previous letter.

Yours very truly,
